Space Resources Conference

The VIIIth Space Resources Conference will be held at AGH University of Krakow, Poland on 21-23 May 2025.

The Space Resources Conferences were launched to provide a forum for open discussion on state-of-the-art technologies related to contemporary problems of space explorations and the use of space resources to improve living conditions of humans and protection of the Earth's environment.

A conference provides us with a unique opportunity to exchange knowledge and establish lasting professional relationships. We wish this gathering serve as a wellspring of inspiration, where the confluence of our diverse experiences begets a network of unparalleled possibilities.

Together, we have the capacity not only for professional advancement but also for mutual support on the trajectory of individual and collective growth. We hereby would like to extend our sincere welcome to you and to ensure all of you a wonderful conference and a memorable visit during your stay in Krakow during the 8th KGK Space Resources Conference!

Yours sincerely,

Professor Tadeusz Uhl
Chairman of the Scientific Committee
